Spartans Are Interscholastic Champions; DG, PSK Top Greeks

The Missoula Spartans, Custer boys, and Polson Pirates won interscholastic track and field meets in classes AA, A, and B, respectively.

The Spartans of Missoula County high school dominated the AA meet, scoring 97 points in 4 events. Spartan Ken Nelson set a 24-year broad jump record with a leap of 22 feet, 8 1/2 inches. The previous record, held by D. Hamilton of White Sulphur Springs with a jump of 22 feet, 10 inches, was set in 1931. Nelson's individual scholastic scoring was with 19 1/2 points.

The Custer Cowboys of Custer County high school, coached by K. O'Loughlin, won in the class division with fleet Chuck Carlsson scoring 18 1/2 points.

Polson's victory in class B was won only after a determined struggle by Florence-Carlton high school. It was the second interscholastic victory for Polson.

Snow and water covered the track Saturday morning, and inclement weather hampered the meet. Even so, over 2,000 spectators, including Gov. J. Hugo Benson, witnessed the finals Saturday afternoon.

 This was Missoula County high school's 20th interscholastic victory in the history of the meet, and straight for Custer County high school, and second in the meet history for Polson high school.

E. Zamljac of Butte Public high school and Sonja Hiness of Billings high school won gold medals in the interscholastic golf tournament after a soaking snow forced cancellation of the final rounds. Miss Hiness posted a nine-hole total of 52 while Zamljac shot an 18-hole total of 77.

By SUE MUNN

According to the four ASMSU officers, who recently attended the Pacific Students Presidents association convention in San Diego, Calif., the thing that impressed them most of all was that in all campus activities, curriculum, in fact, in the entire campus program at MSU, this school stacked up as well as any other attending the meetings.

Gary Jystad, Kalispell, ASMSU president; Bruce Crippen, Billings, business manager; Ann Crocker, Missoula, secretary; and Mary Ellen Erickson, Aberdeen, S. D., vice-president, returned early yesterday morning from the informal discussion conference. They left Sunday, May 8.

Poor Interscholastic Weather Underlines Our Selling Needs

The Kaimin regrets having printed the picture last Friday on the sports page with the label, "The Calm Before the Storm," especially if it had anything to do with the weather for Interscholastic.

What's it all for? To give the high school student a taste of university atmosphere, let him compete with other outstanding students, and to invite him to extend his education beyond the high school level.

High School Students May Like MSU . . .

This all sounds great—real crazy theory, but beyond all of this there is only one thing that counts in the end, "Does the high school student like the place?" This is why we say that no matter how much work and sweat goes into interscholastic, if he doesn't make friends who are interested in him it is all of no avail.

Here's why:

In the first place, the high school student knows absolutely nothing about the University and its greys, classes, social life, or student organizations unless someone tells him the score.

Secondly, he is going to leave home, probably for the first time, when he comes to college, so he'll be looking for security as he makes the break from friends and family.

It's his first home-away-from-home. Only personal friends can step in here, not interscholastic programs.

. . . . Where Does the Selling Job End?

Then don't forget that all parents are not in favor of college educations for their children and it takes a sincere, interested person to dispell such prejudice.

Lastly, the high-school visitor will be thinking of college as a considerable investment both in time and in money. You can bet if he's working his way through college he'll pick the school which offers the most academically, socially, and entertainment-wise for the least money.

You may think these comments a bit tardy, but we believe the program is only half over. It's a long time until next fall and it wouldn't hurt to drop a line to some of these Interscholastic guests saying how much we enjoyed them.

Campus Editor

Steam Valve . . .

Dear Sir:

It has often been said of theatrical critics that they are has-been actors, actors who haven't quite made the grade, or ones who have picked up the poisoned pen out of professional jealousy.

After reading one of Mr. Goddard's reviews, one would think Mr. Goddard had taken to writing criticisms of theatrical productions for all three reasons.

Mr. Goddard's only contribution to the University theater was a vain attempt to produce an original all-school show last year called "Hey Mac" but which had to be cancelled because a student at one of the better known colleges in California held the copyright to Goddard's "original" show, "Hey Mac."

Of the few mediocre parts Mr. Goddard has held in University productions, he has shown no great understanding of what constitutes fine acting.

Great are those who accept art for art's sake rather than those who use the arts to release their inner frustrations.

Sincerely yours,
Jack Howell

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young scientist works on new ways to handle "hot" radioactive fuel

Whenever uranium is "burned" in an atomic reactor, certain valuable elements such as plutonium are left behind in the "ash."

These products are highly radioactive, but they must be recovered because of their great value to the atomic energy program.

Alter's Work Is Vital, Important

Alter is doing his job well. He has already received the Coffin Award, General Electric's highest honor, for developing an apparatus that makes possible faster, safer, and more efficient recovery of the valuable elements in the "ash."

The work done by Alter and his group helps lower costs, increase efficiency and expand our knowledge of the chemical processing of spent radioactive fuels.

25,000 College Graduates at General Electric

When Alter came to General Electric in 1948, he already knew the work he wanted to do. Like each of the 25,000 college-graduate employees, he was given his chance to grow and realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: When fresh young minds are given freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, and the country.

H. WARD ALTER joined G.E. in 1948 at Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory after receiving a B.A. in 1943 and Ph.D. in Chemistry in 1948 at U. of California. He served with the Manhattan Project at Oak Ridge, 1944-46.

Films on Germany, Soviet Union Sponsored By IRC

The International Relations club will sponsor two army films, one on the Soviet Union and the other on Germany, tonight at 7:30 in the ROTC building.

In the film on Germany, Mr. George Kennan, former ambassador to Russia, and Mr. "X" of foreign affairs fame, together with Gen. Bedell Smith, a former Eisenhower aide and ambassador to Russia, addressed the National War college.

The German film gives a new twist to the treatment of such subject matter by first presenting the short speeches of Kennan and Smith and then devoting the rest of the time to unrehearsed questions, asked by members of the war college audience.

Faculty members, students, residents of the town are invited to attend this two-hour program.
